John M. Browning Has Done Much for Watch Hill—Paid $1,700 for Tract Which Has Brought $50,000, Yet Claims Poverty—High School Graduating Exercises June 21st.
John M. Browning, many years ago purchased the large tract of land in the Watch Hill section, located between the ocean and the Watch Hill road, now occupied in part by the Misquament Golf club and some of the finest summer residences. Mr. Browning purchased the great tract of land for $1700, and at that time there were many who declared he had paid too much for his wild land. Mr. Browning has been selling pieces of this property for building sites, and it is believed that the farm has netted $50,000 in these sales and that the balance of the property will eventually bring $50,000 more. His land is taxed for $20,000 and his tangible property for $1000, and he pays in taxes $20 a year. Mr. Browning stated on Thursday that he was taxed too high on his Watch Hill property, a great deal more than the farms on farms between Watch Hill and Charlestown, although the farms brought in something to the owners every year, while building lot, large or small. He said that by reason of the high taxes, and the fact that he had no other land he owned, on which there were mortgages, it kept him scratching gravel to meet these demands. He added that a reason why he wore a ragged coat and had no automobiles. When he first bought the Watch Hill property he paid $1700, and now he pays $215 and he has sold off half of his property at that. He says the more he sells, the more the increase in taxes, so that now he fears to sell, as he may not be able to meet the increased taxes. He said he ought to receive more favorable consideration from the town of Westerly in the matter of taxation, and he has been endeavoring to develop the Watch Hill section, by getting his land into the market, and he has erected several high grade cottages. He had put in many and many a hard day's work opening up that road along the shore and never asked the town of Westerly a dollar for service. Mr. Browning added: "Say, you never saw me meddling in town meeting business, or asking for town honors, or seeking thanks from the town for what I did towards its development. No; but on the contrary some of these political chaps refer to me as Close-fisted Browning. Mr. Browning said he not only gave his own hard labor on opening up roads and driveways, but that he actually hired others to help him. He said he was poor and could not afford to hire over a man or two at a time. He told of the expense he incurred in going to New York city to hire an emigrant to come to work for him on Watch Hill. He found the man, but he went over to Brooklyn to get his luggage and did not get back in time to return with Mr. Browning. As Mr. Browning could not afford to stay in the big city over night, he was out of pocket the expense of the trip to New York completely, as he returned to Watch Hill without his foreign helper. Mr. Browning then indulged in stories of his marital life to demonstrate how his hard-earned money was taken from him and keeps him a poor man! Mr. Browning is industrious and a hard worker, in order to have both ends meet. He added that much money to pay taxes and interest. He can be seen frequently in the streets of Watch Hill, pulling a team of oxen and a pair of horses. The commencement exercises of the Westerly high school will be held in the town hall, June 21, with forty-seven members in the graduating class. On the Sunday prior to graduation the baccalaureate sermon will be by Rev. Clayton A. Burdick in the Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church. STONINGTON Trouble Between Superintendent of Schools and School Committee. Encouraged by their double victory over the Vocational school team of New London, the Westerly High school boys will come to the borough Saturday afternoon, nerved up to the winning point. They expect to defeat the Stonington High school team at baseball with ease. The Rhode Islanders are so confident that a committee is already arranging for a celebration of the victory in Westerly. On Saturday night there is to be a parade of firemen and the school boys are planning a celebration of their victory in connection with that parade. The Stoningtonians are equally as confident of winning and it has been suggested, rather than disappoint the visitors, that the Stoningtonians go to Westerly and celebrate there just as they have on former like occasions. Due to the strong rivalry between these teams there is more than ordinary interest in Saturday's ball game. The superintendents of schools in Stonington evidently have a rocky road to travel, for now there is another little row on between the school committee, that may result in the retirement of Superintendent Woodworth, who succeeded Superintendent Perry who walked the plant a couple of years ago. The present trouble has not been explained, but it is known that the committee has voted, not by an actual majority-ballot, not to engage Superintendent Woodworth for the next school year. Three committeemen voted for Mr. Woodward, two against, and one member did not vote. Neither the committeemen nor the superintendent has anything to say for publication at the present time. The contracts for furnishing coal to the Stonington schools have been awarded. A delegation from Trumbull Lodge, Knights of Pythias, attended the meeting of Bowen lodge in Westerly, on Thursday evening. The rank of page was conferred on a class of candidates. HISTORIC TAP DAY CEREMONIES AT YALE.

Few Surprises Were Furnished in Selection of Members.
New Haven, Conn., May 18.—Yale's historic Tap day ceremonies, at which 45 men are annually elected to the three senior secret societies, furnished few surprises today. The exercises, as usual, were held on the old college campus. Skull and Bones, the oldest of the societies, elected a number of prominent athletes, among them being Harry W. Le Gore, the football and baseball star, Johnny Overton, the runner, and Roland Harriman, stroke of the varsity eight. The latter is a son of the late E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate. Another election to Bones was Henry S. Fenimore Cooper, a grandson of the author. Spencer Pumpelly, baseball pitcher, who was considered sure of election to one of the societies, refused to go on the campus with his classmates. An election to Skull and Bones was refused by George M. Murray of Plainfield, N. J., who later accepted an election to Wolf's Head. An election to Skull and Bones was refused by Albert W.
